Teaching and Research Goals

The College has developed its academic programs based on the core competencies shared by all the academic departments and graduate institutes at NTUB, namely Practical Skills, Creativity and Innovation, Social Care, and Self-management. The taught elements of the programs offered by the College focus on students' managerial skills, information management skills, foreign language skills, and innovation skills. As to the programs involving a research element, they emphasize the practical applications of what students have learned in their specialized areas.
